

Position Announcement

Press Deputy

The California Department of Justice announces an exceptional opportunity to work with California's chief law officer.

About the organization

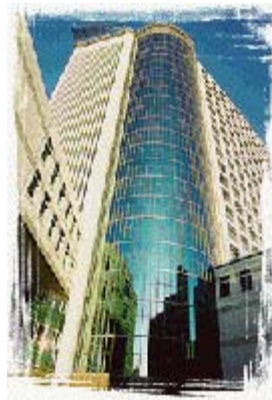

Attorney General Jerry Brown is the State's chief law officer and is responsible for ensuring that state laws are uniformly and adequately enforced. The Department includes over 5,000 employees who provide legal services to the State and who engage in law enforcement activities, such as conducting criminal investigations, apprehending criminals, and protecting our citizens and the natural environment. More information is available at www.ag.ca.gov.

About the position

Located in Oakland, the Press Deputy will serve as a spokesperson for the Attorney General and the Department. Examples of duties include writing and editing press releases with a short turnaround, organizing press conferences, and working closely with the Attorney General and other DOJ staff on policy ideas and communications with the media and public. The ideal candidate will excel in a demanding work environment and be passionate about issues important to the Attorney General's Office. Experience in a legislative environment highly desired. Salary depends on qualifications; full benefits. Some travel may be required.
